

Do you want to be a book reviewer?

In each issue, Military Review publishes reviews of recent books on military art, science, history, strategy, and related fields to alert readers to current scholarship on specific military topics in which they might have academic or professional interest.

In a recent survey readers said that they enjoyed reading MR's book reviews.

If you become an MR book reviewer, you will receive assigned books on your specific areas of interest. MR publishes book reviews in several formats:

- Reviews of 300-400 words on a single book.
- From My Bookshelves containing multiple brief reviews of recommended works which often cover several related topics (800 words).
- Review Essays combining two or more books on a related topic (800 or more words).

And . . . , you keep the books you review.
